

The History of

He made a blushing citall of himselfe,
 And chid his trewant youth with such a grace,
 As if he mastered there a double spirit
 Of teaching, and of learning instantly:
 There did he pause, but let me tell the world,
 If he out-live the enuy of this day,
 England did neuer owe so sweete a hope,
 So much misconstrued in his wantonnesse.
Hot. Cousin, I thinke thou art enamored
 On his follies: neuer did I heare
 Of any Prince so wild at liberty:
 But be he as he will, yet once ere night,
 I will imbrace him with a Souldiers arme,
 That he shall shrink vnder my courtesie.
 Arme, arme with speede, and fellow Souldiers, friends,
 Better consider what you haue to doe,
 That I that haue not well the gift of tongue,
 Can lift your blood vp with perswasion. Enter a Messenger.
Mess. My Lord, here are Letters for you.
Hot. I cannot read them now,
 O Gentlemen, the time of life is short:
 To spend that shortnesse basely, were too long:
 If life did ride vpon a Dials poynt,
 Still ended at the arriual of an hower,
 And if we liue, we liue to tread on Kings:
 If die, braue death when Princes die with vs.
 Now for our Consciences, the armes is faire,
 When the intent for bearing them is iust. Enter another.
Mess. My Lord, prepare, the King comes on apace.
Hot. I thanke him, that he cuts me from my tale:
 For I professe not talking, onely this,
 Let each man doe his best; and here draw I a Sword,
 Whose temper I intend to staine
 With the best blood that I can meete withall,
 In the aduenture of this perilous day.
 Now esperance Percy, and set on,
 Sound all the lofty instruments of warre,
 And by that musicke, let vs all imbrace,

For heauen to earth, some of vs neuer shall
 A second time doe such a courtelie.
Heere they embrace, the Trumpets sound, the King enters his power, alarm to the battell: then enter Dowglas Walter Blunt.
Blunt. What is thy name that in Battell thus thou crost
 What honour dost thou seeke vpon my head?
Dow. Know then my name is Dowglas,
 And I doe haunt thee in the battell thus,
 Because some tell me, that thou art a King.
Blunt. They tell thee true.
Dow. The Lord of Stafford deare to day hath bought
 Thy likenesse, for in stead of thee, King Harry,
 This Sword hath ended him, so shall it thee,
 Vnlesse thou yeeld thee as a prisoner.
Blunt. I was not borne to yeeld, thou proud Scot,
 And thou shalt find a King that will reuenge
 Lord Staffords death.
They fight; Dowglas kills Blunt; then enters Hotspur.
Hot. O Dowglas! hadst thou fought at Holmsdon thou
 I neuer had triumpht ouer a Scot.
Dow. Al's done, al's won, here breathlesse lies the King.
Hot. Where? Dow. Heere.
Hot. This Dowglas? No, I know, this face full was
 A gallant Knight he was, his name was Blunt;
 Semblably furnisht like the King himselfe.
Dow. Ah foole, goe with thy soule whither it goe
 A borrowed title hast thou bought too deare.
 Why didst thou tell me, that thou wert a King?
Hot. The King hath many marching in his Coates
Dow. Now by my Sword, I will kill all his Coates
 He murder all his Wardrobe, piece by piece,
 Vntill I meete the King. Hot. Vp and away
 Our souldiers stand full fairely for the day.
Alarm, enter Falstaffe solus.
Fal. Though I could scape shot-free at London,
 Not heere: heere's no scoring but vpon the pate. Soft you! Sir Walter Blunt, there's honour for you, heere's
